About "Spray on Tour Guard", quoting Vader Cabinets website:

*SPRAY: "After seeing many of our touring band's cabs all ripped up we decided to see what we could do about this. We started to use a spray on texture similar to what you see in the back of pick up truck beds. We sent out a few of these cabs on the road with some of our hardest touring bands and told them not to case them and don't show them any special treatment. After all their tours ended, they came back flawless!! This stuff is virtually indestructable to any type of road abuse and in theory, your cab should look the same in 20 years as it did the day it left our facility. We spray the shell, grill, and the backplate making the entire cab tough as nails!!."
